

Aboriginal Media Art Initiative (AMAI) 2012

Video Pool Media Arts Centre is a nonprofit Artist-Run Centre dedicated to independent video, new-media, audio and integrated multimedia production. Members of the centre have access to workshops, funding, distribution, and equipment for the creation of their works.

The Aboriginal Media Art Initiative (AMAI) 2012 is a one-month all expenses paid residency in Winnipeg designed to assist northern, rural and urban Aboriginal artists with the creation of a short video or media art project. AMAI is open to all aboriginal artists of all levels of experience in video and media arts and with an interest or proficiency in art within all disciplines.
